Personal Lines: Disciplinary Process for Performance Violations

September 28, 2018

As announced in the December 29, 2017, Personal Lines Bulletin, Citizens reinstated the disciplinary action for late submissions bound on or after January 1, 2018. We now are expanding the disciplinary process for performance violations that are issued on new-business applications bound on or after October 1, 2018.

Performance Violation Notices

As a reminder, Citizens issues Performance Violation Notices when an agent:

- Circumvents the document submission process
- Submits an ineligible risk
- Submits an uninsurable risk
- Posts premium on an unbound risk
- Fails to upload a premium finance company contract (when applicable)
- Incorrectly applies credits, discounts or surcharges
- Fails to acquire policyholder signature(s) on the application

As mentioned in the May 21, 2018, Agent Updates Bulletin, binding violations have been renamed performance violations. The Performance Standards Program measures the number of late submissions and the number of performance violations incurred by an agent. Agents and their office staff should be aware of and avoid performance violations and the disciplinary actions outlined below.

Disciplinary Process for Performance Violations

Beginning October 1, 2018, Citizens will use a progressive, four-step disciplinary process for performance violations, which will be based on individual agent’s submissions (not the agency level) and also on the number of submissions within a 12-month rolling cycle:

Notes

• Violations cannot be removed through corrective action taken after the violation occurs. For more details, refer to the resources below.
• Nothing in this communication alters or affects Citizens' disciplinary process for tracking or measuring late submissions.
• Performance violations and late submissions follow two different disciplinary tracks.

Citizens has developed training resources and frequently asked questions (FAQs) to help agents stay in compliance with new-business processes and to avoid disciplinary action. See the resources below for more information.
