Late Submissions Resume March 1

febrero 09, 2021

Citizens tracks late submissions as part of our Agent Performance Standards Program to reinforce the requirement that documents related to Personal Lines new-business risks be submitted within five days of the requested effective date of the policy. This ensures that our Underwriters can make timely underwriting decisions and customers receive the best possible experience.

Due to the COVID-19 health risk, Citizens suspended consequences for late-submissions in March of 2020. Beginning March 1, 2021, Citizens will resume counting late-submission violations. A late-submission violation occurs when an agent does not respond to the five-day warning notice activity in PolicyCenter® and fails to submit all required documentation within 15 calendar days of the policy effective date.

New Resource

To assist agents in avoiding violations, Citizens has developed a new Agent Performance Standards Program Guide, which is posted on the Training page on the Agents website, under Personal Job Aids. It includes:

- An overview of the program and its purpose
- The processes for monitoring compliance
- How to dispute violations

In addition to late-submission violations, agency staff should be aware of and avoid the following most common performance violations:

- Circumventing the document submission process
 - Submitting an ineligible risk
 - Submitting an uninsurable risk
 - Premium posted on an unbound risk
 - Failure to upload a premium finance company contract (when applicable)
 - Incorrect application of credits, discounts or surcharges
 - Missing required signature(s) on the application and applicable supporting documents

Resources

In addition to the new Agent Performance Standards Program Guide, Citizens has many training resources and frequently asked questions (FAQs) to help agents avoid violations. Most require login to the Agents website.
